

BSPR-EBI Meeting 10

Proteomics: From Qualitative to Quantitative

Wellcome Trust Conference Centre, Cambridge, UK

13-15 July 2010

The major focus of this meeting is recent strategies for qualitative description and quantitation of proteomes, and the novel informatic tools enabling their application to the discovery of new biomarkers, the elucidation of biological function, and the construction of cellular signalling and interaction networks. Sessions will cover the application of these technologies to proteomic research from prokaryotes to plants, animals, human and clinical studies.

Quantitative Proteomics
Organisers: Judit Nagy (BSPR) and Sandra Orchard (EBI)
EBI, Hinxton, Cambridge, UK, 15-16 July 2010*

A major purpose of the BSPR is the promotion of proteomics through education thereby furthering the highest standards in experimental practice nationwide. This workshop is taking place in the computer room of the Wellcome Trust conference centre and will consist of a combination of lectures and hands-on exercises.
